National Group Accreditation Is Expected Soon

Nine members of the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education will be visiting the campus March 15 through 18.

The purpose of the visit is to judge whether or not Marshall will continue to be one of the 409 institutions accredited nationally.

There are seven areas of evaluation: to judge the school's purposes in teacher education, to see the progress in teacher education in organization and administration, to observe the counseling service, to study the qualifications of the faculty, to study the teacher-preparing programs, to observe the facilities and instructional materials in classrooms and laboratories, and most important to study the program in professional laboratory experiences, including student teaching.

Dr. Ralph W. Cherry of the University of Virginia is chairman of the team. Others are Dr. Harris L. Dante of Kent State University, Dr. Homer Pittard of Middle Tennessee State College, Dr. Gene Santavica of Miami University, Dr. Tom K. Savage of Austin Peay State College, Mr. Walter K. Snyder, assistant superintendent of Kanawha County schools, Dr. Otto H. Spilker of Western Carolina College, Dr. William H. Tarwater of the University of Virginia, and Mr. Clarence M. Young of the West Virginia Department of Education.

These members will meet with the faculty and administrative officers for discussion. They will also choose groups of students at random for informal group discussions, especially seniors who are doing their student teaching.

After their departure from the campus, the committee will submit a report to the National Committee for Accreditation of Teacher Education which the 19 members will review. Marshall will then be either accredited fully, given provisional accreditation, or given a deferred action for one year.

SENATE POST OPEN

Applications are now being taken to fill the vacant sophomore class alternate senate post. The position was opened when sophomore class president, Danie Stewart, resigned, and each remaining senator moved forward one position. Those interested in the position can fill out applications in the Student Government offices.

MU Debaters Win Novice Tournament

The novice debate squad won 3 out of 4 debates in the Novice Tournament held at Capital University, Columbus, Ohio, last Saturday. They won out over contestants from Capital University and Ohio State University.

The winning debaters were Stephen Edington, Huntington freshman, Linda Sanford, Bluefield freshman, Ronald Jarrell, Point Pleasant freshman, and Carl Keener, Huntington junior.

The topic for debate was: "The Federal Government should guarantee an opportunity for higher education to all qualified high school graduates." The affirmative side won two of the debates and the negative side won the other.

Soloist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra is Tong Il Han, a brilliant Korean pianist. Tong (Tony) was found and sponsored by the Fifth Air Force during the conflict in Korea. At the age of 11, he was brought to the United States and accepted at the Juilliard School of Music where he studied with the famed Madame Rosina Lhovinne. Tong has appeared on many nation-wide television broadcasts, among them the Ed Sullivan Show, the Today Show, the Arthur Godfrey Show, and he was one of the first soloists to appear on television's "Recital Hall" series.

In the years since the conflict, Tony has demonstrated to his American-airmen that he is a genius. His vibrant personality and great musicianship have made him an international favorite.

They'll Seek Nominees For April 8th Elections

By GARY KEARNS
News Editor

The Parthenon has learned that the Greek organizations on campus — the social fraternities and sororities — will caucus at 2 p. m. Sunday for the purpose of nominating their candidates for the upcoming spring election April 8.

The information concerning this meeting, which will be held at the Alpha Xi Delta sorority house, was by Lily Wray Naylor, Clendenin senior and president of the Panhellenic Council, the governing body for social sororities.

Miss Naylor explained that this year's Greek caucus would be managed somewhat differently than in the past.

Committee In Charge

"This year the Interfraternity and the Panhellenic Councils have been in charge of setting up the caucus. This year it is completely in their hands," Miss Naylor said.

Formerly this Greek caucus has been run by certain individual students on their own, and it is believed that the move to take the caucus out of the hands of these individual students originated within the IFC.

"This year we want the student body to know that the caucus isn't anything mysterious and that it is fair," Miss Naylor said.

In recent years the caucus has been a closed session, closed to the press and to non-Greek students. This year the caucus will be closed to the press and to non-Greek students as far as Miss Naylor knew. In fact, only the presidents of the respective fraternities and sororities, plus one delegate from each organization appointed by that group's president, may attend Sunday's caucus, according to Miss Naylor.

But, she added, "we want to try to clear up, through The Parthenon, that the caucus this year will be impartial. We want to clear up all of the misconceptions."

2 Caucuses Set

There will be two Greek caucuses this year — the one Sunday and another one on Tuesday at 9:15 p. m. This second caucus is also planned for the Alpha Xi house.

Why two?

Miss Naylor explained that the first meeting would "be sort of a primary. The nomination of the candidates will show how the support lies for each of them."

"The presidents and their appointed representatives will then go back to their active meetings on Monday evening to take straw votes among their various organizations, either disapproving or approving the nominees," Miss Naylor continued.

She added that these people would then return to the second caucus the following evening to officially pick the Greek candidates from these nominees.

"This will be a follow-through vote," Miss Naylor added, "as determined in the active meetings of the individual groups."

At the Sunday caucus — the first order of business will be to elect a sergeant at arms. The official duty of such a person is to preserve order.

Marna Paulovicks, Wheeling senior and student body vice president, will serve as chairman of the caucus.

The presidents of the IFC and of the Panhellenic Council may also be in attendance. Whether they will be allowed a vote is to be determined.

Rules For Voting

The rules of voting at the meeting will be as follows, according to information sheets sent to the fraternities and sororities.

1. Each Greek organization will be allowed one vote.

2. The president of each Greek organization and one representative appointed by the president may attend the caucus.

3. The caucus will accept Sturgis Rules of Order.

4. The presidential nominations will be held first. After this the vice presidential nomination will be held. The nominees for president may declare themselves candidates for vice president if they lose the nomination for president. The presidential nominee must declare himself a candidate for the vice presidential nominations at first caucus meeting.

5. Presidential and vice presidential candidates of the student body will be allowed to speak before the caucus after nomination.

Miss Naylor explained that a special caucus committee was established after the IFC's move to switch the jurisdiction of the caucus to itself and the Panhellenic Council. The IFC is the ruling group governing all campus Greek social fraternal organizations. It serves in the same capacity as does Panhellenic over the sororities. Joe Robertson, Huntington senior, is IFC president.

This special caucus committee, which Miss Naylor explained will serve in the same functional capacity as does the committee which sets up and manages Greek week, has eight members. It is chaired by Art Fornari, Wellsburg junior, with Dean Thompson, Huntington junior, and Vicki Massey, Beckley sophomore, serving as co-coordinators.

The other committee members are: Joe Robertson; Bob Altomare, Weirton senior; Tom Young, St. Marys junior; Connie Barbera, Mt. Hope junior, and Betty Banda, Weirton senior.

Nelson Wins Local Pistol Tournament

Winner of the Huntington City Tournament in the collegiate category for pistols was Daniel Nelson, Huntington senior. He scored 638 points out of a possible 900.

An invitational rifle meet will be held here tomorrow between the University of Kentucky and Marshall varsity ROTC rifle teams.

The ROTC department is challenging all Greeks on campus to match or beat them in the giving of blood in the blood drive next Wednesday. This would be percentage wise. Last semester the ROTC gave 70%.

Regimental sponsor of the Pershing Rifles is Miss Kay Collins, Huntington senior, who will represent them as candidate for Regimental Queen. The Regimental Ball will be held following the drill meet held at the University of Toledo, May 15 and 16. Miss Collins is among approximately 20 candidates. The queen is chosen from a photograph.

Carpets Installed In Prichard Hall

New carpeting has been installed on the second floor of Prichard Hall and also in the south wing of the main floor.

Mrs. Bess Marple, Prichard Hall hostess, said that "the women here are really pleased at the improvement the carpeting has made in both the appearance of the dorm and also in cutting down noise to a minimum."

The wall-to-wall carpet is beige in color. It is heavily padded and has a mottled appearance which reduces the task of daily cleaning.

Mrs. Marple said that the carpet was installed on a trial basis. Depending upon its acceptance by the women living in the dorm, the third and fourth floors will also be carpeted.

Engineering Students Receive Scholarships

TWO ENGINEERING students have been granted $50 scholarships by D-Rho D-Theta, local engineering honorary fraternity. John Eastom, Huntington senior and president of the group, (left) makes the presentation to Jerry Webb, South Point, Ohio, senior, and Delmas Lunsford, Huntington senior. Funds for the awards comes from alumni donations.

Roaming The Green

Everybody is going to be rounding out the basketball season this weekend with house parties and victory parties wherever you look.

Things will look backward to the not so backward brothers of Lambda Chi Alpha at their Backward Ball tonight at Stark's Floortown. The style of dress will be reversed, with the men dressing as girls, and vice versa. This type of madness will go on from 9 p. m. till midnight.

The Tekes have a house party scheduled for tonight.

Tomorrow night is the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Founder's Day festivities. They will start out with a banquet at 6 p. m. then round up with a dance from 8 p. m. till midnight at the Hotel Prichard.

The Alpha Xi's will go in mass to church Sunday morning as a memorial to their sister, Gloria Brothers, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident a year ago. They plan to attend Johnson Memorial Methodist.

Alpha Sigma Phi's have a new house at 1615 Sixth Avenue.

Your Sunday evening meal will be served in the Union by the men of Zeta Beta Tau from 4:30 till 7:30 p. m. This is their second annual Ess 'n Fress and consists of a Kosher style meal and entertainment at the price of $1.00 per person.

Kappa Alpha Order elected officers this week. Bill Hedrick, Lewisburg junior, is the new president. Vice-president is Doug Pelfrey, Huntington senior, and recording secretary is Jerry Phelps, Bluefield junior. Tonight is a pre-game get-together.

Alpha Sigma Alpha actives and pledges will have a slumber party tonight at the Owens-Illinois Road and Gun Clubhouse in Wayne County.

The Sig Eps report that they are limbering up for the annual Blue Mountain Blast coming up next weekend, and the Sigma Kappas are making ready for their Hoopie Hop.

Two Social Deans At OU Conference

Stanley A. Shaw, dean of men; Lillian H. Buskirk, dean of women; and Robert F. Puthoff, Residence Hall Director, are at Ohio University, Athens, Ohio, today to attend a one-day conference of the Ohio Association of Student Personnel Administrators.

The topic of discussion will be "Individual Growth in Mass Education." Keynote speaker will be Dr. Melvene Hardee of Florida State University.

Dean Shaw explained that the purpose in attending the conference is to learn methods and techniques used by student administrators at other institutions.

Marshall; Mr. Henry Ray who is in charge of instruction and curriculum in Wayne County Schools; Mr. H. C. Lantz, principal of Huntington High School, and President Smith.

The group will meet soon, according to President Smith, to evaluate the available and necessary resources to set up the system. There is an excellent chance that when and if introduced, the system would be located at Marshall, at least that is the consensus of a group of 15 representatives from county and parochial schools, the university, and the C & P Telephone Company who discussed the matter last week.

ALPHA SIG'S ACTIVATE

Alpha Sigma Alpha, social sorority, activated seven women in formal initiation ceremonies last month.

They were Linda Cornett and Patricia Dean, Northfork freshmen; Donna Broom, St. Albans freshman; Judy Foster, Huntington freshman; Cheryl Newton and Sharon Cremeans, Huntington sophomores; and Vivian Mullins, Chapmanville junior.

STANLEY STEAMER

By KAY SAGE and SAM STANLEY

A few years ago there was a movement on to smooth out relations between this school and West Virginia University. This was before Marshall gained university status, but during a time when Marshall basketball was at a high peak and the football team had come within a whisker of winning the Mid-American Conference.

So Marshall fans, knowing the MAC was as strong, if not stronger than WVU's Southern Conference, began to point out that Marshall was the athletic equal of what was then its big sister in Morgantown. Marshall fans weren't claiming the Big Green was better, or that their beloved Huntington school could defeat the "mighty" Mounties. These fans were just claiming that Marshall played the same caliber of ball that WVU did.

But WVU fans couldn't see this and Marshall was unjustly ridiculed and told by the WVU followers to climb back down in their hole.

But Marshall didn't do this. The university status inspired the school's athletic program even more, and despite the fact of successive losing seasons in football and basketball, the school's athletic stature grew. The good football season finally arrived this past fall and with it one colossal change in the state's attitude to Marshall.

When Charlie Snyder and staff went out to recruit, many on his prospect list wanted to come to Marshall and so, for the first time, Marshall was getting its share of the cream of the crop.

Then came along a case when one boy, already signed up by MU, signed another letter of intent with WVU. Signing a letter of intent does not obligate a boy to this school, but Snyder has always honored such a letter and WVU does too, with such schools as Pitt, Syracuse, Penn State and other large eastern universities.

It's our belief that Coach Gene Corum of WVU has certainly erred in this case. And sports writers in Huntington and Charleston and even students at WVU think so too. But sports-writers from Morgantown not only support Corum's action, but have gone as far as ridiculing Marshall, saying "who would want to go to Marshall (sic) when they could go to WVU" and that "no great athlete ever went to Marshall."

It's too bad these few people don't wake up to reality. Marshall's day in athletics is upon us — as is its day in the field of education. Marshall isn't trying to belittle WVU, but neither does it want to play second fiddle.

An athletic rivalry between the two schools would do nothing but help the state. WVU cannot lose prestige by playing, unless it is false prestige to begin with.

Marshall and WVU are both here to stay and nothing that we or you or anyone can do will change this. All this state needs is a little mutual respect for both, in every phase, and most of this bitterness would end.

Here and There:

Don't forget the blood drive Wednesday in the Student Union from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Don't be afraid, they won't hurt you.

The Zeta Beta Tau's are having an Ess'n Fress kosher style meal and all the trimmings Sunday in the Student Union from 4:30 until 7:30. Come out and put a little spice in your life . . .

The recent mixes have been extended because of the change in women's hours. Let's hope it's a permanent change.

Those of you who are going to Germany this summer are reminded to get your smallpox shot soon. Because, if it doesn't take you have to wait a month before getting another one. And, you've got to get your passport . . .

Greek Week is just around the corner and there's some new ideas in the air. It's a great opportunity to better Greek relations, so let's get behind it.

Are there any plans for planting grass on the intramural field for spring? It's been termed a "dust bowl" and someone as recently referred to it as the "Marshall marshes".

There's a Japanese printmaking art exhibition at the Campus Christian Center. It'll be there until close to the end of the month, so why don't you go over and take a look? Some Marshall student work is there too.

Why don't the janitors in Main Annex do something about Gene Krupa on the radiators?

ATTENDS CONFERENCES

Dr. Elmer E. Dierks, campus Baptist pastor, has been asked to participate in the Religious Emphasis Week activities at West Liberty State College.

The event has been planned for this week with the theme being; "Religious Faith In Modern Life".

Dr. Dierks will act as a seminar leader there and will travel to Salem College to share in the same type of activities. While at Salem College, Dr. Dierks will meet with the local Baptist student group.

CAST SET

Auditions were held recently for "The Stephen Foster Story," a summer musical which will play the entire summer in Bardstown, Ky. Five Marshall students qualified for the final audition to be held March 15 in Columbus, Ohio. They are Karen Bowen, Huntington freshman; Llyana Lynch, Huntington freshman; Cynthia Glenn, Huntington junior; Karen Dille, Chesapeake, Ohio, sophomore; and John Layne, New Haven junior.

GRADE AVERAGE CITED

The Cavaliers, independent fraternity, compiled a 2.583 scholastic average for the first semester, according to a roster released by Stanley A. Shaw, dean of men.

Four members of the fraternity earned grade point averages above 3.0. In sharp contrast, one member made a 0.750 and one of the pledges had a 0.600.

MECHANICAL CHEF

"Anyone have change for a quarter?"

This has become a common question among the men living at the New Men's Residence Hall.

Nickels and dimes are in constant demand because of the addition of a coffee and hot chocolate dispenser to an already impressive line of concession machines. The new dispenser is located in the lounge of the dorm and sees a lot of action.

Other machines included in the lounge area provide such articles as soft drinks, milk, candy, cigarettes, and cookies.

ATTENTION, SENIORS

All Arts and Sciences seniors who plan to be graduated in June of this year should go to the office of Dr. J. Frank Bartlett, dean of College of Arts and Sciences, to see if they are on the graduating list.

Student Awarded Scholarship Aid

Ellis N. Nemer, Parkersburg senior, has been awarded the first scholarship from the Gloria Brothers Memorial Scholarship, according to Mr. John Sayre, director of alumni affairs.

Miss Brothers, an outstanding Marshall graduate, was killed in an automobile accident last March. The memorial fund was originated last May by the Huntington Alpha Xi Delta Sorority alumni chapter. Miss Brothers served as president of the sorority.

The scholarship fund now totals $5,000 and is awarded to any student who has attended Marshall for one full semester and has maintained a B average the preceding year. The amount of the scholarships will vary depending on the number of recipients and the amount in the fund.

Nemer, a psychology major, is married and lives at University Heights.

LAIDLEY HOUSE PARTY

Laidley Hall will hold its annual House Party on March 6, from 8 to 12 p. m. Invitations have been sent to the various men's dorms and fraternities on campus.

In charge of the dance and arrangements is Diane Board, Ripley senior.

There will be dancing in the corridors and in the lounge. Several of the other activities planned will include folk singing, card games, and a fortune teller.

ZBT ESS'N FRESS

A Kosher style meal and all the trimmings is on the menu for Sunday dinner March 8 in the Student Union.

This is the second annual Ess'n Fress sponsored by Zeta Beta Tau social fraternity. From 4:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. the meal will be served and diners will be treated to appropriate dinner music.

According to Grant Landau, Huntington junior and ZBT social chairman, tickets are available from any fraternity member or may be purchased at the door for $1.00 per person.

GREEKS AID DRIVE

Representatives of Alpha Xi Delta sorority and Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity are working with the American Cancer Society this month in the annual "Bowl Down Cancer" drive. During the week of March 15 they will be stationed at every bowling establishment in the Huntington area selling tickets for the Bowl Down Cancer Tournament, which will be going on the same week at 50 cents per entry.

CHEMIST TO SPEAK

A chemistry seminar will be held at 11 a.m. next Tuesday in Room 320 of the Science Hall. The speaker will be John Kubis, a Marshall graduate student. His topic will be "Macrocyclic Ring Compounds." All chemistry students are urged to attend.

The Sports Corner

By JERRY REED
Sports Editor

Tomorrow night, when Bowling Green heads into town, will be the final game of the 1963-64 cage campaign. What is more significant is the fact that four members of the Big Green will be playing their last contest in a green and white uniform.

What is unusual about these four players is that they aren't the backbone of the squad like most seniors on other teams, but when needed Coach Ellis Johnson knew that he could call on them and get the particular job done that required doing.

The one senior that did receive a starting assignment for the better part of the season in Paul "Butch" Clark. In the Eastern Kentucky game, in the early part of December, Clark got his chance and took advantage of it. He didn't turn out to be the star

CLARK

of this game but he did give an indication of what his capabilities were.

All season long it was remarked that the thing that was hurting the Big Green was the lack of a team leader or a floor general. Clark was certainly the man for the job, but he never fulfilled his expectations. On certain occasions he performed admirably and gave the home fans, as well as those away from the home court, many thrills. It has been said many times that Clark was the dribbling magician of the hardcourt. He brought back many memories of the old MU teams with his behind-the-back passes, his dribbling techniques, and don't forget he is the only one that has successfully led the fast break here in quite some time.

"Butch" or "Dabber", whichever you happen to know him by, could very well have gone to college on a football scholarship since he was outstanding in high school in the grid sport.

Clark has not had what you would call an outstanding career as a Big Green cager, but he has had his moments of glory and it would be fitting if he can go out tomorrow by playing as his fans remember him most—in the free wheeling, dashing style of basketball. Don't be surprised if he brings the house down in his final outing, that is if he gets the opportunity.

Roy, Jerry—Huntington HS—starred in high school . . . good speed . . . played one year at Kansas State . . . excellent shot and ball handler . . . battling for starting assignment.

The above is taken from the Big Green basketball fact book and gives a good picture of the man that almost had the starting position but not quite. He would have had it if it had not been for an injury to his ankle.

He went around for a week wondering if it was going to heal and then the bad news hit that he wouldn't be able to start. Roy, commonly referred to as "Jet", came into the game several times and helped the team with his arching jump shot that touched nothing but nylon. He was one of the few players on the squad who wasn't afraid to shoot when the pressure was on and some times he did help to stay close or to keep that slim lead.

He rewrote the scoring records at Huntington High and was destined for greater things, but as in all these seniors' cases, various factors halted their plans for greatness.

Willie Tucker will probably be remembered for his strength under the boards and how he never let anyone push him around there.

Willie hails from Weir High in Weirton, and according to the fact book, he is "probably the most underrated member of the Big Green basketball team."

Willie could have received a starting position if he had been able to help out the team scoring-wise. Coach Johnson said he would not be afraid to use Willie in a game but that he just wished he would prove that he could score more.

Tucker is a good jumper and has the speed and it was to have been his year. But he played more as a junior than he did this season.

Larry Williams was expected to see more action than he has, but Coach Johnson decided differently and that's the way it has been. He did play well in some games and a player of his height (6-7) should have helped the team more. He started his first game this season against Morris Harvey, in Charleston, and proved himself so well that he got the nod the next few games after that.

But he just didn't jell with the coaches' expectations and therefore he has spent some time on the bench. It has to be taken into consideration that the starting lineup has not been the same all season long. Coach Johnson said at the beginning of the season that he would not be afraid to use any of these guys when the need arose.

So hats off to the seniors tomorrow night and the best of luck in the future.

Big Green Finishes Season Against Falcons Tomorrow

The lid will be put on the season tomorrow night when the Bowling Green Falcons enter the Field House to do battle with the Big Green.

Coach Ellis Johnson will send his players into the clash with the hopes in mind of avoiding the worst cage record in MU's history. A win is necessary if this is to be averted.

Leading the Falcons will be Howie "Butch" Komives, who is also leading the national scoring parade with a 35-point average. Komives killed MU's chances in the first meeting of the two squads this season when he poured in 33 points.

The lineup that Coach Johnson will most probably employ will be Bruce Belcher at the center post, George Hicks and Tom Langfitt at forwards slots, and Bill Francis and Butch Clark at guard.

"We're not going to use any special tactics," Johnson said, when asked about his game strategy.

Marshall lost the first game against the Falcons due to a cold shooting streak, something that has plagued the team all season. The Big Green didn't fall behind until early in the second half when BG took a 51-49 lead on a field goal by Komives.

"We'll try to hold Komives down, but not so much that we'll weaken our defense. Of course we'd rather beat them than hold Komives to two points. We could put two or three men on him, but we'd rather beat the whole team than Komives," Johnson commented.

Komives needs 30 points against the Big Green in order to win the Mid-American Conference individual scoring championship along with maintaining his ranking as the nation's top scorer.

Coach Warren Scholler of Bowling Green feels that his squad has a lot to worry about in tomorrow's contest.

"We always worry about Marshall," he said, "because it is a well coached ball club and always has a lot of hustle."

The BeeGee's will employ the same lineup that was used against MU in the first meeting.

Komives will join Nick Aloï at the guard positions while Rick Coven will take care of the pivot duties. Tom Baker and Bob Dwors will be in the corner positions.

The players that Coach Scholler feels he has to worry most about are Belcher, Francis, Langfitt and Clark.

"These four boys had a good game against us earlier and we're looking for the same from them this time," Scholler said.

"The only reason Marshall lost up here was the fact that we were just a little bit hotter than they were," he added.

"If Clark and Francis guard Komives like they did up here, then we could be in for a rough night," he remarked.

More Than Unionology Taking Place In Union

By BRENDA FAULKNER
Society Editor

Believe it or not, there are actually more classes than Unionology conducted every day in the Shawkey Student Union.

Five education professors utilize the second floor of the Union as classrooms, according to Don Morris, Student Union manager. There are two rooms in the upper level of the building which are separated by collapsible wooden doors to make suitable size rooms.

For the past several semesters the crowded conditions of campus class buildings has driven classes to meet in these rooms. However, this semester boasts the heaviest load ever, Mr. Morris said. There are various classes meeting there five days a week, mostly general education courses. In the past there have been health education classes, too.

The professors and the students alike are well pleased with the classroom arrangement, Mr. Morris believes.

He thinks that the average person does not realize the multiple purposes of the white block structure. He proceeded to outline the major uses of the student center.

For example, Father William Gardner, campus Catholic chaplain, has his office on the main floor of the building, where he is available for student visits daily.

The Chief Justice staff has its home base on the second floor.

The Student Government office is located in the west wing.

There are various and sundry intramural tournaments won and lost in the building, such as table tennis, bridge, hearts, pinocle and billiards.

One of the two big rooms in the basement is a polling place, not only for student elections, but for city, state and national elections as well. Otherwise this room houses ping pong tables. The other room contains pool tables.

Twice a year the American Red Cross sets up its needles and jars in the Union ballroom for the student blood drive. Career Day displays are exhibited in this section also.

Future officer candidates in the Armed Forces are regularly given the opportunity to sign up when the various recruiting officers come to the Union.

Numerous teas and receptions are held there. These include the Freshman Reception, President's Christmas Reception, and the Panhellenic tea. The Student Government's Spring Carnival Dance is usually in the ballroom. Last year marked the beginning of the Homecoming buffet for alumni.

Area high school students are entertained throughout the year. Each spring the United High School Press delegates are treated to a movie and a mix. Huntington East High School usually holds its spring prom in the Union. The State Catholic and the State High School Basketball Tournament activities take place there.

Mr. Morris says that these services are good promotion for the University in that they bring numbers of prespective students to the campus and give them a chance to become acquainted with it.

Perhaps the two most well known functions of the Union are the Wednesday night mixes and the Friday night movies. Mr. Morris estimated that there are over 600 students at an average mix, although he said the attendance probably goes a lot higher considering the number of people who wander in and out during the course of an evening.

There are some 25 full length movies shown in the Union on Friday nights.

The doors of the building are opened six days a week at 7 a.m. They close at 9 p.m. except for Wednesdays when the mixes last until 10 p.m. and on Friday and Saturday, when the deadline is midnight.

Even with all these, more formal functions going on under this one roof, you may still think of the Union as a cup of coffee, game of bridge, and an afternoon of Unionizing.

PROJECT BOGS DOWN

Expansion of WMUL-FM into all dormitories through a system whereby AM radios can pick up FM, will depend on funds and on the designer of the FM transmitter, Paris Wiley, Barboursville freshman.

At present, funds are short and WMUL has not been able to get Wiley to build another transmitter. Definite plans for expansion will not be known until the middle of May.

Last month an installation was made in Prichard Hall. Some ceds now are able to pick up the station, but others say they are unable to.

This Machine's A Real Copy Cat

INSPECTING THE newly acquired Xerox copier are Mrs. Shirley Dyer, Robert Alexander, and David Dodrill. The machine, which is located in the Office of Information and Publications, can be used by all departments to make single copies at a rate of seven a minute. It reproduces from any original, color or black and white, and copies onto ordinary paper.

New Copy Machine In Use

Director of Information, Mr. David Dodrill stated today that the services of the information department will be aided by the acquisition of a Xeron 914 copying machine that was received on March 2.

The copying machine was obtained mostly through the combined efforts of Director of Placement, Robert P. Alexander and Mr. Dodrill.

Mr. Alexander said, "The machine will be of particular benefit to my office. We will use approximately 1000 copied forms per month.

Other features of the machine are that it makes up to seven single or multiple copies per minute; reproduces from original in any size up to 9 x 14 inches; copies all colors; no chemicals are involved; and it delivers dry copies as the finished product.
